

Complementary this year....

With the first term coming to an end, our complementary groups reflect over what we have already managed to achieve with a positive attitude towards literacy.

Our main objective in complementary is to harness a sense of achievement and enhance each child's ability and attitude towards reading and writing.

Each child feels a sense of belonging to our 'learning' groups and the complementary room has a warm feeling of 'welcome'.

As always, the use of interesting resources help with the learning process and make our lesson much more fun....

This year we have also been given additional Maltese reading material which is ideal for our reading programme.

Each student has her own pack, full of activities that target specific literacy skill.

The Year 1 classes have enjoyed a term of storytelling. Each week they've listened to a story followed by fun activities, colouring projects and a collaborative effort to make our own books...

As we approach Christmas our complementary groups share their enthusiasm by making sure that books are part of their wish list as they prepare their letters for Father Christmas.

By giving reading a meaningful context, we have all reflected during this first term, that reading is not only important in many ways but also so much fun!
